

FUSION FC Youth Soccer Academy

Supplemental training for those soccer players who want to make the transition from recreation to competitive competition.

The Academy is designed to develop young soccer players through their formative years and to give them all of the ingredients they need to succeed in the game at the highest level. Players from an early age need to acquire the technical ability to master the ball and be proficient with both sides of their body. Players are placed into age and ability groups to train once a week in addition to their core team, with expert professional staff. The staff will teach and develop these players to have the confidence, and the technical ability to enjoy the game and be successful on the pitch. It is the Academy's primary aim to make soccer fun so that the vital ingredient of enjoyment is achieved at all times.

Beginner- Entry level: This level is for recreation players looking to develop for competitive transition. It is designed to help the player develop the personal foot skills necessary to become more comfortable on the ball. Level one focuses on using all parts of the foot and body to control the ball. Individual skills such as dribbling, ball striking, receiving ball on ground, receiving ball from the air, 1v1 attacking, 1v1 defending, and much more will be taught. Academy coaches will recommend advancement based off of evaluations.

Advanced- This level is primarily for established teams competing at a higher level. Advanced teams will represent Fusion FC at distinguished tournaments.

The advanced level will introduce the tactical side of soccer in a team type setting. Types of settings are 2v2 defending and attacking, 3v3 positioning, etc.. will be used. This type training allows the players to develop an understanding of team formations as well as the importance of communication.
